Purpose and Goals

The goal of Martin County Schools is to significantly increase the reading and writing skills of students identified in the Exceptional Children's Program to the proficient level.

Description

All the Exceptional Children's classrooms throughout Martin County are implementing research based interventions. This year the collection of data is coming from students in grades 3-8; in 7 classrooms. The students within the model settings are cross categorical. Students selected are being taught by teachers who have successfully completed Reading Foundations training, along with training by SRA. These teachers are also coached by the Curriculum Specialist.

Description of Model

Martin County Schools has selected Direct Instruction programs. The instruction is within the EC classroom (resource setting) and group size ranges from 2-10.
