

After moving to a new town, nine-year-old Samantha and her twelve-year-old brother Robert had heard of an old toboggan slide from some of the other neighborhood children. They decided they needed to check it out. Supposedly, it was on the northern side of the peninsula in the middle of the lake behind their new home.	15 29 41 58 59
Paddling lazily, they headed across the lake in their canoe. Just as they had been told, there was the decrepit, wooden-framed toboggan slide. The slide itself was barely wide enough to fit a toboggan. It left only a couple of inches to spare on either side before adjoining a short, wooden sidewall about six inches in height that kept the toboggans from falling off. Hundreds of steep steps climbed the shoreline to the top of the slide. Looking down from the top, it was evident that the slide abruptly ended approximately six feet above the water.	73 86 104 118 131 148 156
Since they didn't have a toboggan, they improvised with a piece of cardboard. Robert went first and flew down the slide. He used his feet against the side rails to stop the contraption before catapulting himself into the muddy water below. Samantha went next but her momentum was too great and she shot off the edge into the water. Samantha's immediate thought after bobbing to the surface was "Blood-suckers!" Her second thought was, "This is all Robert's fault!" She frantically climbed out of the water and ripped off her socks and shoes to look for blood-sucking worms. After finding none, but fearing they were still lurking in her shoes, she refused to put them back on.	169 186 197 212 224 237 253 267 274
"Put your shoes on," Robert insisted. "Put your shoes on or you'll never be able to walk back to the canoe." Samantha refused. Finally, either from a desire to be gallant or from fear of repercussions from their parents, Robert picked up Samantha. He carried her to the canoe and quickly paddled home. After a steamy bath and the reassurance that there weren't any blood-sucking worms hidden anywhere, Samantha told the story to their parents with a great deal of enthusiasm. She forgot entirely that she had originally blamed Robert for everything and made him the hero of her story.	289 304 316 330 342 356 369 375
